Brockton ADH offers a community setting for elderly patients whose medical conditions require a need for nursing supervision, and/or rehabilitative therapy. The goals of the program are to provide health, social, and nutritional intervention, to prevent premature institutionalization. Brockton ADH strives to provide an organized program of nursing services, supervision, maintenance – therapy services and socialization.

Brockton ADH services members of basic and complex levels of need. Individualized care and services are provided that support dignity, self-esteem, and promote independence. In coordination with members' family, and physician(s) Brockton ADH staff develops a comprehensive plan of care for each member in order to best meet their needs.

Brockton ADH's services include:

1. Nursing Services and Health Oversight
2. Therapy Services
3. Assistance with Activities of Daily Living
4. Nutritional and Dietary Services
5. Counseling Services
6. Activities
7. Case Management

Full time staff is on site to assist members with all of their needs. The staff includes Program Director, Assistant Director, Nursing Staff, Social Worker, Activity Staff, and Program Assistants. The program staff are constantly in contact and coordinating with other physicians and counselors that are treating the patients.

Each day members are transported to, and from, the program. Once they are at the center they enjoy a day of structured activities. Throughout the day patients are monitored and encouraged to participate in group and individual activities. Members are served Breakfast, Lunch, and Snack each day, and all nutritional considerations are taken in account. Special diets are accommodated, and alternate meal choices are available. Resting areas are provided for any member who needs a quiet place to relax, and nursing staff is available to assist with any emergency medical needs. Detailed patient charts contain all pertinent information about the members' conditions, and individual care plans are reviewed with patient's physicians quarterly. Brockton ADH strives to provide a safe and comfortable experience for these seniors each day.
